NOTIFICATION

Shimla-171002, the 19th April, 1996

No. Rev. B. A. (3) 2/95.—The Governor of Himachal Pradesh is pleased to substitute paragraphs 239 and 240 of Punjab Settlement Manual as applicable to Himachal Pradesh as under :—

“239. Settlement work based on accurate field survey.—In order to carry out either of the two branches of his work, the framing of a record-of-rights or the making of a fair assessment, the Settlement Officer must have an accurate map of each village showing the position and boundaries of every field. Such a map is known as the shajra kishtwar. He also requires a record of the area of each field which is easily calculated when its shape and linear dimensions are known and for assessment purposes it is expedient to note at the time of measurement the class or classes of land which each field contains. If no field map exists, the Settlement Officer must make one, if the existing map is defective, he must consider whether it can be corrected without an entirely new survey. But during special revision of record-of-rights there shall be complete re-measurement of an estate or sub-estate based upon units of metric system where units of measures are in non-metric system in the previous record-of rights."

"240. Separate field map for each village.—There is a separate assessment and a separate record-of-rights for each estate or mohal. But the unit for purposes of survey is not the estate, but the village or taraf or up mohal or Patti. During special revision of record-of-rights, an estate can be divided by the Settlement Officer for the purposes of survey into two or more tarafs or up-mohals or Patti. Separate field map and measurement jamabandi can be prepared for each taraf or up-mohal or Patti. The distinction between them introduces no complication into settlement work, for as a matter of fact the things which they denote are in the Himachal Orders almost invariably one and the same. Occasionally a block of land or some scattered fields belonging to one village are enclosed within the boundaries of another village. Such fields should be measured along with the village in which they are included, but given an independent series of numbers."

The provisions of these paragraphs shall be deemed to have come into force w. e. f. 23rd day of September, 1976.

P. I. SUVRATHAN,
Financial Commissioner-cum-Secretary.
